The Columbus Wagon Road.

We learn through Mr. Chamberlin of the firm of Mason & Chamberlin, that of the 20 miles of grading undertaken by the Carson shareholders in the Columbus wagon road some 11 miles will be completed by to-night; and as it is fair to presume that the Columbus people have finished an equal stretch of the road, it may be calculated that but 18 miles are left to be graded and prepared for travel. It is probable then, that the entire work will be sufficiently finished to admit of the passage of teams as soon as the first of July. The longer the opening of this road is delayed the more important does its need become; for the business of the Columbus District and the vicinity thereabout is increasing with rapid strides, and every day that the trade thereof is diverted from here the longer is deferred the time when its profits will accrue to our business people. We learn that as many as ninety horse and mule teams are constantly employed in the conveying of freights to and from Columbus and Wadsworth. When this road is completed those teams will come to Carson and this place will be the point of railway shipment for that entire region of country. It may seem a little like a needless state and proxy reiteration of old seedy facts for us to make these much worn assertions, but they are certainly pertinent and timely in view of the fact that early in the coming week Mr. Chamberlin will take a trip round among the subscribers to the road building and collect whatever is due from them. Moreover the building of this road is a pet scheme of ours.

A smart hail storm which got dissolved into the melting mood of a spanking shower of rain, accompanied by some gentle demonstrations of electricity, came upon us yesterday afternoon. The grass and leaves looked very green and brilliant after their grateful drenching; and the air was redolent of the fragrant sage, (it is fragrant, albeit a trifle pungent; and we like the odor of it after a rain, and don't care who turns up his uneducated nose at it), and singing birds came out and chirped and chattered and twittered amid the sprays; and up where the Carson gardens are and the uicer residences, our little city looked as cheery and verdant and comfort-inspiring as any New England village; and we are delighted with our little shower and so proud of the get-up and showing of the gaudy little town as if it were an orphan ward of ours who had just succeeded in imparting a black eye to one of the neighbor's children.

THIS, the 24th day of May, is the anniversary of the birthday of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria. We want say when she was born—it wouldn't be polite, you know, to take that uncouth liberty with a widow lady's age; but it is enough to say that all solid, substantial, well constructed Englishmen entertain a hearty and well-grounded respect for her as a woman and a queen; and we feel quite certain that every body whose good opinion is worth having will join us in wishing success to the Englishmen and their guests who will meet to-night under the hospitable roof-ree of the Ormsby House to join hands with each other in doing honor to her Majesty's name, and in discussing the vaunts furnished forth in celebration of the occasion by that sturdy Britisher, George Fryer.

Our friend of old days in California journalism, Mr. Wm. S. Byrne, well and very favorably known hereabout as the efficient traveling agent for the substantial San Francisco wine and liquor house of Wand, Kane & Co., was amongst us yesterday. William looks as healthful and sturdy as in the flush days of Rabbit Creek and Gibsonville, and the happy moments of the Mountain Messenger. Not unkind of business and the value of well distributed printers' ink, Mr. Byrne advertises his house through the columns of the APPEAL. He is now on the road to prosperity and San Francisco.

EASTERN PUBLICATIONS.—Mr. John G. Fox, through his efficient and thoughtful ambassador, Sir Edgar Pierce, has placed us in possession of Leslie's Fashion Book, The Galaxy, Harper's Magazine and the Lady's Friend for June; also the Jolly Joker, Day's Doings, and Harper's and Frank Leslie's Illustrated Weeklies for May 24. Many thanks.

PERSONAL.—Mr. A. J. Balston, Agent of the Bank of California in Virginia City, was here yesterday. Mr. Tod Robinson, who suffered a very serious attack of typhoid fever and pneumonia here last winter, came up from California yesterday. His health is restored although he still feels and shows the effects of his long illness.

MINT.—Nothing of interest at the Mint yesterday beyond the simple and unaffected fact of seven bars of Crown Point bullion shipped to London and the display there of a B nton silver brick worth $422 66. That is all.

THERE is another crisis in France. This makes the full million. That old conspiracy against Thiers has been again discovered. Whenever it is thought best, the resignation dodge is withheld and the assassination business substituted in its stead. Then comes the inevitable crisis, of course. It is nonsense to ask if this tomfoolery will never cease; for it never will—not while Thiers exists.

Two more young bloods of old Virginia, with more temper and "sand" than cool judgment and courage have been fighting a duel near Petersburg. They quarrelled about their rival claims to the love of a young person of the softer sex.

"A new revolving signal light, to be attached to the rear of trains, by which engineers behind them can tell by the speed of the rotations, as shown by the succession of different colored lights, at what rate the trains are moving and when they are at rest," is mentioned by the Richmond Wig as the recent invention of a freight conductor on one of the roads entering that city.

A remarkable case in dentistry is mentioned by the N. W. Brunswick (N. J.) Times, of a citizen of that town, who after the extraction of a tooth with which he had been long tormented, but in which the only part apparently unsound was so minute as not to admit the insertion of a delicate needle, discovered on cracking it with a hammer that it was a mere shell in which lived a nondescript six-legged bug, which ran briskly about the table on being released from its prison. As the gentleman is confident that the animal could not have made its way through the perforation from without, he considers this a clear case of spontaneous generation.

Railroad Notice.

Persons living at Empire and thereabout on the line of the V. & T. R. R., are hereby notified that the accommodation trains will stop for Empire passengers only at the EMPIRE DEPOT; and will not stop to receive or deliver passengers at either the Mexican or Morgan Mills Platforms. In other words, passengers from and for Empire must get on and off the cars at the Empire Depot when the regular trains stop there.
